

JETPHARMA

A PRIVATELY OWNED MANAGEMENT COMPANY

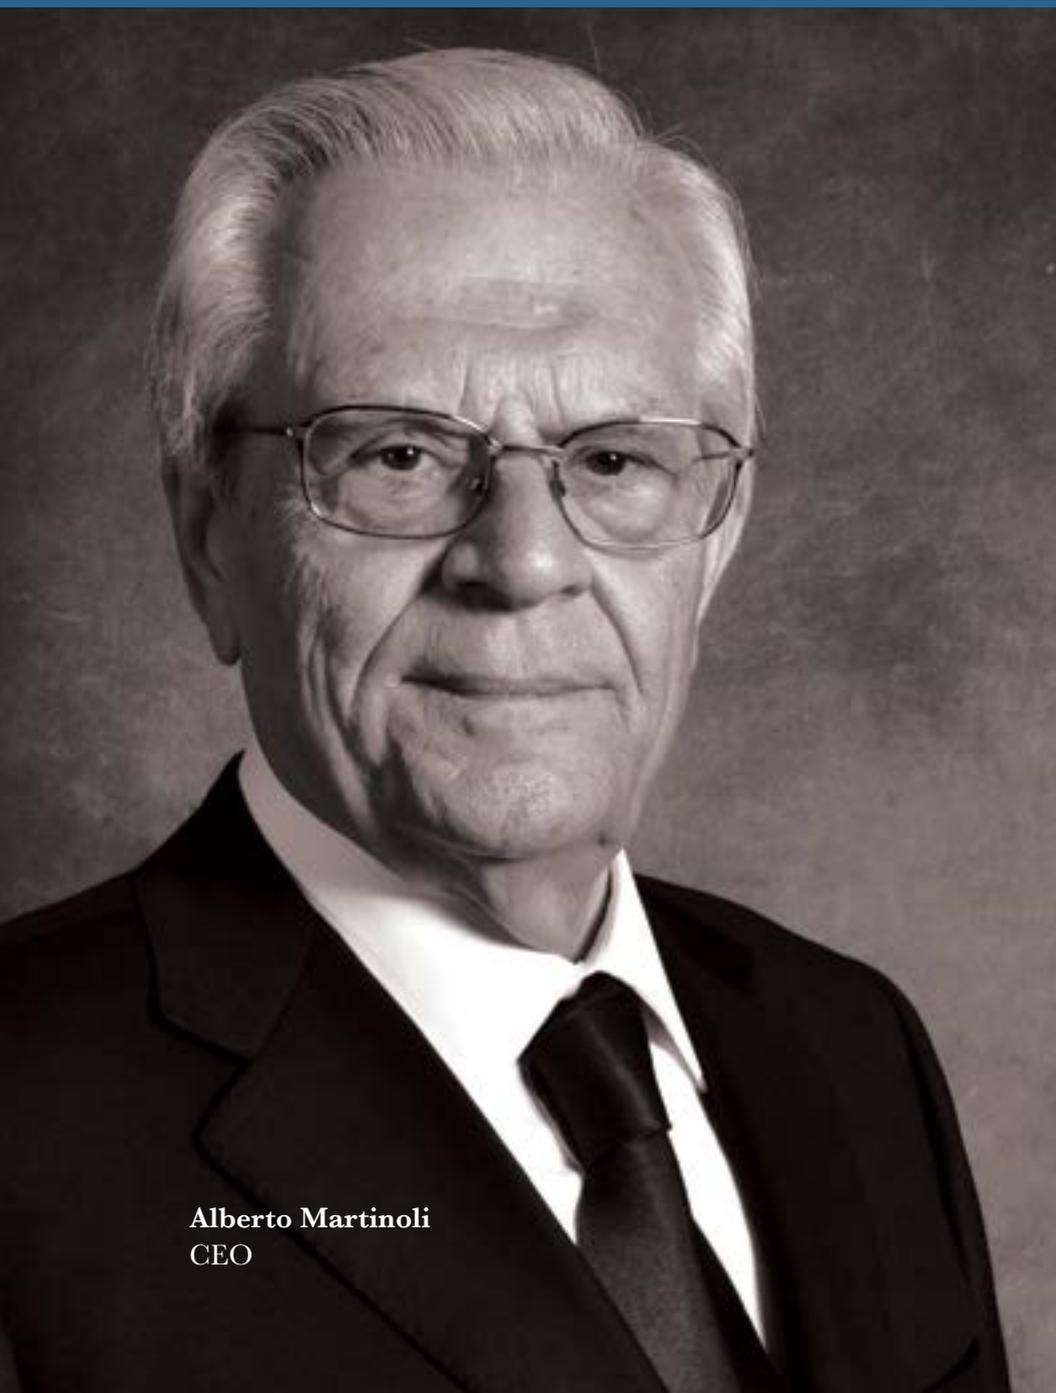

WHERE TRADITION
MEETS PROGRESS

The world has deeply and very quickly changed. We believe that, together with the many opportunities globalization has succeeded in providing to people and companies, it has also affected personal relationships between individuals. A lot has become automatic, fast, performance-connected. The space for human relationships has slightly faded. Our choice to be and remain a family company, capable of competing at world level, intends to be a guarantee for our customers and partners. If, on one hand, every day we invest, grow, innovate and surpass ourselves, at the very bottom we are people with a passion for their job, brave and fast in decision-making, as only a family can be. For our clients and partners it's also a promise of clarity and durability of the relationship.

Alberto Martinoli
CEO

My work means life and passion to me. Through the years I have constantly developed my job and my companies. I believe that being demanding and perfection-oriented are the minimum requirements to be able to work with big, medium and small companies. And this is what I do expect from my collaborators and partners too. Still today, when the micronization process is wrongly considered to have reached its maximum best, I keep developing new ideas and solutions to reduce these spaces - minutes, actually - of potential improvement. I am not affected by the importance of the many innovations I've been recognized to have introduced in this sector in forty years, and I am fascinated by all those that I can still develop.

Charles Simmons

Luca Martinoli
COO

In our company, I am the responsible of process management, service quality, certification and of lastly guaranteeing to customers the expected result. Precision is paramount to me. I like to know every detail of procedures, every step taken, every operation carried out. I like to know how things are done.

It's a key role in business life and I can say that the many acknowledgements received from customers and authorities urge me to keep going on such a rewarding path.

I never stop, I want to maintain a high level of control, the word Quality is to me a heterogeneous, fascinating and challenging combination, a form of inner responsibility. I would define it as my uncompromising contract with my profession.

I feel affected by my motivator role so that the whole team works on the same wave length aiming at shared and consistent goals. Alone, a person can't make it and, in my opinion, succeeding together is more inspirational. Our company lives and works as a team. All the time.

“Courage is rightly esteemed the first of human qualities... because it’s the quality which guarantees all the others”

Winston Churchill

Stefano Martinoli
CFO

Our company's business management and financial strength belong to my area of expertise, as well as the conceiving of Visions and Strategies to be able to compete in complicated world markets.

What really is part of me is my aspiration to innovate, think differently, change the game rules in a sector which has often made the micronization process a simplified and purely technical evaluation. On the contrary, I believe that every single person's resolution to put its own heart in the effort, to look for solutions which seem unattainable or complicated are fundamental components. Through my years of experience I have ascertained how this can occur, often when technical problems are successfully tackled by people. Because people make the difference.
